Editors: Kevin Davies and Ian Maclaren

Morgans are sponsoring our next major Thursday night competition, the Club Swiss Pairs Championship.

A 4-night major event on Thursday nights in May. Noticeably big prize money is on offer, designed to attract some of the best players to come and play in our club. A great opportunity for you to come along and play against these players.

Update from the President

David Fryda

As per the layout below, the committee for the next 12 months has been determined. I welcome John McIlrath and Mark Guthrie back to the committee and Winston Horne who is joining for the first time. As you know, the committee members all donate their time to supporting our club and I hope that you will support us by providing constructive input and feedback when you feel it is appropriate.

Our 2021/2 Club Committee

 President David Fryda	 VP John McIlrath	 Secretary Maryann Russett	 Treasurer Les Grewcock
 Member Elana Kohn	 Member Winston Horne	 Member Mark Guthrie

We are continuing the approach of dividing the effort through the establishment of sub-committees. The structure this year is shown below with the names of the sub-committee chairs alongside.

Property	David Fryda
Tournament	John McIlrath
Finance	Les Grewcock
Administration	Maryann Russett
Teaching & Training	Elana Kohn
Technology	Mark Guthrie
Business Development	John McIlrath

The subcommittees include other members from the Committee itself and in some cases non-committee members have been seconded. Both Gary Barwick and Liam Milne are invited to sub-committee meetings as required. If any member would like to volunteer their skills and expertise to any of these sub-committees please let me know. Finally, I would just like to call on all members who used to play at Willoughby who have not yet played at North Ryde to give it a try. I recognise that some members still do not feel comfortable about coming back to face-to-face bridge due to health concerns. However, I feel that there are many members who are prepared to play face-to-face but have not given North Ryde a try. It is a great venue, there is ample parking and the traffic, at the times that we play, in the area is not an issue. So please support the club by coming along.

As the club continues to reopen its face-to-face sessions, I will be promoting several new sessions in coming weeks at both our North Ryde and East Lindfield clubrooms. As many of you continue to return to something approached "bridge normal", the club and I will be doing our best to make you feel comfortable and providing the high-quality bridge experience that you should expect.

Please feel free to get in touch with me if you have anything I can help with or if you have ideas or views about improving the club. I welcome your feedback.

Liam

Now, when you log into a RealBridge session you may be prompted with a message saying "Oceania" is requesting access to your camera and microphone ... you should accept this! otherwise your video and audio will no longer work. The reason for this is that RealBridge have installed a dedicated server called "Oceania" in Sydney to improve the quality of the audio and video delivered to RealBridge users in our part of the world. If you have had quality issues with audio/video on RealBridge that have prevented you from playing in the past, please call Gary on 0413 884 805 and I will setup a time to test your connection to see if this new server resolves your issues.

Which Finesse?

After an enthusiastic auction you land in 6♠. North's 4NT bid was Roman Key Card Blackwood for spades. South's 5♣ response showed zero or three keycards.

West leads the ♣K. Plan the play.

Analysis

You have a club loser and two heart losers.

You could take the diamond finesse and if it succeeds, discard your losing club on the ♦A, or you could take some other finesse.

What is the best way to proceed?

6♠/S Lead ♣K		Vul Nil Dir: S

If you take a diamond finesse or a heart finesse and it loses, the opponents will cash a club and the contract will be set.

You should plan to use the diamond suit to provide discards for one of your losers. The best way to do it is a "ruffing finesse", which is a backward finesse. Win the ♣A and draw trumps. This time you can afford to draw all the trumps even if they split 4-0 because you have another entry to dummy.

Now lead a diamond to the ♦A and then play the ♦Q. If East covers with the ♦K, ruff it, return to dummy with the ♥K and discard your losers on the established diamonds. You will make thirteen tricks.

If East does not cover the ♦Q, discard your club. If West wins with the ♦K, the remaining diamonds are high, and your losing hearts can be thrown on the ♦JT. You will make twelve tricks.

So, you make your contract whether the ruffing finesse wins or loses! Magic!

Key Point

A ruffing finesse is sometimes better than a normal finesse.

South	Bidding Notes
♠ T87	2NT	Bal 20-21
♥ AQ3	3♣	Stayman
♦ KJ73	3♦	No Major
♣ AKQ	3NT	To Play

Sitting South, you are in third seat with two passes. The normal bidding for this hand is to open 1♦ and then jump to 2NT on the next round if partner bids 1♥ or 1♠, and to raise to 3NT if partner responds with 1NT. That would be the correct bidding if you were in first or second seat.

In third seat, you have another useful option. Given you have a max 19 HCP, there are 21 missing points. Your partner is a big favourite to have six or more of them. I suggest you consider opening 2NT (20-21). This is not an attempt to swipe the hand, but rather to get to a game without telling the opponents much about your hand. You are safe in doing this because you know your partner will not have enough points to look for slam. Almost always, he will raise to 3NT or will use bidding tools such as Stayman or Jacoby or Texas. All these bids are fine with you. This is a very reasonable treatment (it can be used in fourth seat too) and is one that should earn you a few uneducated opening leads.

Your partner bids 3♣ (stayman) and you bid 3♦, denying a major. Partner's 3NT bid closes the auction. The lead is the ♠K and you see that this was not the most perfect moment to overbid.

T1-3 West, who was dealt the three top spades, has no trouble cashing ♠AKQ.
 T4 West then cashed the last spade ♠2. You discard a heart from each hand and East discards a small club. West exits with the ♣J to your ♣K.

Preliminary analysis

Tops: 1♥+2♦+3♣=6.

Top Losers 4x♠ already cashed!

Strategies for 9?

You are going to need some luck to make 3NT.

- East must hold the ♥K for an extra trick.
- you need the diamonds to behave too and find the ♦Q and a 3-2 break!
- You also need to get to table twice!

What is your line of play? If you see the problem, you will see that you need to make a wish. Assuming you are wishing for the right things, what card do you lead now? Be extremely specific. Only one card will do.

Solution

T6 Lead the ♦7 to the ♦A.
 T7 Take the diamond finesse. ♦2 to ♦J It wins, so the first part of your needs is home. The second part is that West follows with a second diamond. You also needed a 3-2 split, which you get.
 T8 You now cash the ♦K, clearing up the suit.

Now you can get to dummy with your remaining carefully preserved small diamond ♦3. Good thing you led the ♦7 earlier because if you still had that card, you would not be able to get into dummy now, which is where you must be. Here is the entire hand.

T9 You are in dummy after leading your $\spadesuit 3$ to dummy's $\spadesuit 5$.
 T10, You take the heart finesse, $\heartsuit 4$ to $\heartsuit Q$, which wins, and you are home with nine tricks.
 T11,12, 13 Are high in your hand $\heartsuit A, \spadesuit AQ$.

Note that on the fourth round of spades you had to keep all four diamonds in both hands. If you discarded a diamond, all the wishing in the world would not allow you take advantage of your good luck.

2-way Finesse

From Pat's Play and Learn Bulletin series, on the ACBL bridge feed website

Pat Harrington

How would you play the club suit shown below for four tricks?

Dummy
 $\clubsuit KT93$
Declarer
 $\clubsuit AJ54$

You are likely to follow the saying “eight ever, nine never,” which applies to holdings missing the queen. This saying suggests taking a finesse when you have eight or fewer cards between declarer and dummy and playing for the queen to drop when you have more than eight cards between you.

What if you need only three club tricks to make your contract? Even if you fail to guess the location of the $\clubsuit Q$, you will have developed the needed trick. If you cannot afford to lose the lead, you are in the same position as the player who needs all four club tricks.

Sometimes, it is safe to lose the lead to one opponent but not to the other. Suppose West has a long suit ready to run in 3NT. Finesse as if West has the $\clubsuit Q$. Play the $\clubsuit A$ and then lead the jack and let it ride if the queen does not appear. Your finesse may lose, but you have determined that East cannot hurt you.

Nobody can ask you how to play the clubs shown above without giving you a lot more information. How many tricks do you need from the club suit? What was the bidding? How has the play progressed to this point? Is there a dangerous opponent? Let us see how all this works in a complete deal.

North		Standard Bidding
$\spadesuit 643$	$\heartsuit 982$	West	North	East (D)	South
$\diamond A54$	$\clubsuit AJ85$			$2\spadesuit$	2NT
		Pass	3NT	All Pass
Bidding Notes
South		$2\spadesuit$	Weak 2 $6\spadesuit$ <Opening
$\spadesuit A75$	$\heartsuit AK6$	2NT	15-18 Bal + \spadesuit Stopper
$\diamond K63$	$\clubsuit KT94$	3NT	to play

West leads the $\spadesuit 9$. East plays the $\spadesuit 10$.

Preliminary Analysis

Count winners: one spade, two hearts, two diamonds and two clubs. Two more tricks must be developed. If you can guess the location of the $\clubsuit Q$, you can finesse twice to get the needed tricks.

Winning all four club tricks is your only hope of making 3NT. What is your plan?

You may have decided to hold up winning the $\spadesuit A$ at trick one. It is safe to do so but is not going to help you make 3NT since your plan must be based on guessing clubs correctly. Moreover, it appears that West's lead is a singleton. A weak two-bid is usually made with a six-card suit.

The main issue is how you play clubs to avoid losing a trick. Although East is the dangerous opponent, it is best to finesse West for the $\clubsuit Q$. West is short in spades and probably has length in the remaining three suits. The $\clubsuit Q$ is more likely to be with the player having length in clubs.

Also, when a player shows a weak hand and reveals an extraordinarily strong suit, he is less likely to have high cards in other suits.

The full deal:

	North
	♠ 643
West	♥ 982	East (D)
♠ 9	♦ A54	♠ KQJT82
♥ QT54	♣ AJ85	♥ J73
♦ JT972		♦ Q8
♣ Q63	South	♣ 72
	♠ A75
3NT/S Lead ♠9	♥ AK6	Vul Nil Dir: E
	♦ K63
	♣ KT94

Now suppose North has the ♥Q instead of the ♥9. The auction and opening lead are the same, but now you need only one extra trick to make 3NT. Can you guarantee it? Yes. Duck one round of spades to make sure East has opened a six-card suit, then play a club to the ace and continue with the jack. West may win the ♣Q but he cannot hurt you. Contract made.

This is the proper play in teams or rubber bridge, but at match points, where overtricks count, you might still play West for the ♣Q because the bidding indicates he is more likely to have it.

When things go according to the odds, daring declarers come out on top, making 3NT with an overtrick. But my advice is to play it safe and finesse East for the ♣Q. At your level, you will do surprisingly well to bid to a good contract and make it. Go for overtricks only when your play to do so is safe or the odds are overwhelmingly in your favour.

Our Newer Player Team

Ever played in a Tournament?

The Metro Interclub event is in May at our North Ryde venue. Last year we fielded two full teams in the Under 15 and Under 100 Masterpoint categories, and we made a major contribution to our club winning the trophy. This year the Under 15 category has been removed, so we only have the Under 100 Masterpoints category, but we are fielding a strong team and hope to make another good contribution to the club's success. Having said that, for our team the most important thing is to enjoy the event.

Supervised Play Opportunities:

Tips for Playing Match point Pairs:

Top Match Point Pairs players get their winning edge from:

- Staying with the field: bidding the game contracts and not trying the risky slams i.e. scoring an average on most boards.
- Getting overtricks: making extra tricks by good declarer play, or by taking advantage of poor defence by opponents. Every trick counts at match point scoring!
- Not giving away any unnecessary tricks: Ensuring that in defence you get the tricks you are entitled to, as Every trick counts at match point scoring!
- Bidding the right contracts: Major suit trump contracts when you can make some ruffing tricks, else NT contracts on flat hands, rarely minor suit contracts.
- Staying out of poor contracts.

Or a Restricted game:

- Fridays at 10am, F2F at North Ryde.

	4♥	Cue (Short ♠ & two aces!)
	4NT	Keycard (♠)
	5♥	2 no Q
	6♠	To play My ♠ are very good!

Bidding

You are South and pass as the first bidder and partner opens 1♥. You respond 1♠ with your motley 4 spades to the ten, and partner leaps to 4♦. This shows a slamish hand in spades, and a singleton ♦. You like your 2 aces and your short club, so you co-operate by cue bidding 4♥. Partner now uses Keycard, and you show your 2 key cards (no ♠Q), and partner puts you into a 6♠ contract.

Against your slam, West starts the defence by leading a low trump (often best against hand wanting to ruff) ♠3.

Preliminary Analysis

Winners: 4x♠+2x♥+1♦+1♣ = 8

Losers: None on top

Strategy options for 12 tricks

- Do some cross ruffing. Unfortunately, the spade lead has killed your chances of a complete crossruff. But 5 tops + 6 cross ruffs only makes 11 tricks.
- Set up the hearts, if 33 for 2 extra tricks
- Set up diamonds, if 33 for 3 extra tricks

After that trump lead, do you have a plan for getting to 12 tricks?

Best Solution

Rather than relying on hearts or diamonds to be 3-3, declarer decided to play for trumps 3-2 and both red suits no worse than 4-2.

- T1 After you won West’s ♠3 lead with the ♠J in dummy. East following ♠4, ♠5 from hand
- T2 You then played your diamond ♦4 to the ♦A, both EW following, West playing the ♦J
- T3 You then ruffed a diamond ♦2 in dummy with the high trump ♠Q. Both following West playing ♦K and East ♦7. Looks like diamonds are not 33.
- T4 Next, you cashed the ♥K in dummy, both EW following ♥8, ♥4
- T5 You then played a heart ♥2 to your ♥A in hand. East ♥J, West ♥6
- T6 You now led a second low diamond, ♦3 to another high trump ♠K on dummy. West throwing a club ♣4 and East following with the ♦T.
- T7 You now led a heart ♥5 and ruffed in hand with the high ♠8 as East discarded a club.
- T8 You then ruffed a third diamond ♦6 with dummy’s last trump ♠A, setting up two high diamond winners in hand.
- T9 After ruffing another heart ♥9 in hand high with the ♠9, thereby also establishing dummy’s ♥9.
- T10 You then drew a second round of trumps with the high ♠T, throwing a low club from dummy. Both EW’s followed. This leaves the defence with a high trump!
- T11 Then you led a good high diamond ♦9 and threw dummy’s remaining club on it as West ruffed with the last outstanding trump ♠7.
- T12-13 West had to lead a club, and you then took the last two tricks with the top ♣A and the high ♥9 in dummy.

The Bidding

You open your flat 20 hcp with a 2NT bid (20-21 Bal) and partner respond with a 3♣ Puppet Stayman asking for Major suit holdings. You respond 3NT (No 4 or 5 card major) and partner passes.

This deal was played in a teams' match with identical, puppet Stayman auctions at each table. Both West players led a fourth highest ♥5 against your notrump game. East playing the ♥T. What is your plan for taking nine tricks?

Preliminary Analysis

Top Winners: 2♥+2♠+1♦ = 5 (4 Short)

Top Losers: ♠A

Strategies for 9 tricks

- Set up the long diamond for 3-4 tricks.
- Force spade trick
- May need to lose the lead twice.

Your Solution

- T1 West lead ♥5, and at your table, you (declarer) decided to duck East's ♥T, to protect against West having long hearts i.e., a 5/3 break.
- T2 On the auction and play to the first trick, East placed West with only the ♥Q and consequently saw that there was no future in continuing hearts as he held all the outstanding points. Instead, he shifted to the ♣Q. You won this in hand with the ♣K.
- T3 You then played a spade ♠2, West ♠6 to the ♠Q, which East won with the ♠A.
- T4 East continued with the club attack ♣J to declarer's ♣A.
- T5 Next, you ran the ♦Q, but. East won the ♦K.
- T67 East then cashed two high club ♣T8 tricks to defeat your 3NT contract.

When your teammates returned and scored up this board:

Your Table	3NT	-1	-100
Their Table	3NT	+9	-600
Net Result:		-12 Imps	-700

They insisted there was nothing they could have done to stop declarer making the 3NT contract!

The Expert Declarer Solution

- T1 At the other table, the expert declarer saw the danger of a club shift if he allowed East to hold the first trick (He has two weakish suits ♥/♣), so he took the ♥T with his ♥K, he could still duck second time around.

- T2 Declarer then led the ♠K hoping that if West had the ♠A entry, he would be forced to take it early before hearts were established. But East had the card, could do no better than to win the trick with the ♠A
- T3 East then continued hearts with the ♥J, hoping that his partner had a six-card suit. Declarer played low ♥3 (ducking) on the ♥J, as West overtook with the ♥Q.
- T4 West decided there was no more future in hearts (he has no entry!), so he shifted to the ♠8. He knew from the auction that his partner had at least four spades as declarer had denied 4. But the expert declarer rose with dummy's ♠Q to limit the defence to at most two tricks in that suit.
- T5 Declarer then crossed back to hand via clubs ♣4, ♣8 ♣K ♣2.
- T6 Declarer then ran the ♦Q to East's ♦K.
- T7 East saw that cashing the high ♠J would present declarer an overtrick (♠T), so he exited with the ♣Q. Declarer took this with the ♣A in hand and claimed his 9-trick contract.

He was making 9 tricks, one spade, two hearts, four diamonds and two clubs.

Challenge Hand 3 Solution

North	Standard Bidding
♠ KJT2	West	North (D)	East	South (D)
♥ 6		1♦		1♠
♦ KQJ93	Pass	3♠	Pass	4♠
♣ A32	All Pass
South	Bidding Notes
♠ Q9876	1♦	4+D, Opening Hand
♥ KJ3	1♠	4+♠, 6+hcp
♦ T2	3♠	4+♠, Invite, better than 2♠
♣ K54	4♠	To Play

You arrive at 4♠ after partner opens 1♦ and then leaps to 3♠ over your 1♠ response. The opening lead by West is the ♣J, East playing the ♣8, an encouraging card. Plan the play.

Preliminary Analysis

Winners: 4♠+4♦+2♣ = 10 tricks Looks OK
 Losers: ♠A+♥A+♦A + maybe deep ♣ loser

You are off three aces, always a bit unsettling, and must dispose of your slow club loser before the opponents can get in twice. You do not have 'time' to drive out the ♠A as a club will come back and when either opponent eventually get in with a red ace, the setting trick in clubs will be right there on the table to haunt you. You have choices.

(1) Win the club lead in dummy and lead a heart hoping to guess the position if East plays low. If East rises, your troubles are over. Your ♥K provides a parking place for your club loser, the ♣K the entry to the ♥K. If East plays low, put on your guessing shoes, but there is more to this hand than a guess.

If East is a strong player, East may duck the ♥A. But if East is not a strong player, East will almost always go up with the ace looking at that singleton lead from dummy. You must know your customers! In any case, the heart play is at least 50% (guessing correctly if East plays low) but far more for psychological reasons.

(2) Or win the club lead in your hand and drive out the ♦A, win the club return in dummy, and play a second and third diamond hoping the suit divides 3-3 (36%). If it does, you can discard your losing club on a third diamond.

Percentage-wise (50% vs 36%) it is clearly better to win the opening lead in the dummy and lead a heart.

Tips:

- This hand illustrates how important it is not to play too quickly to the first trick from either the dummy or your hand because of entry considerations.
- Also, how 'timing' enters the calculations when you have a slow loser.
- And, finally, how important it is to have an idea of the skill levels of each opponent.
